Construction skills centre opens to first trainees

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THE ROYAL Borough has opened a fourth specialist skills centre as part of plans to provide training for local people and boost their job prospects.

The borough's new Construction Skills Centre in Kidbrooke opened its doors last week and the first 20 recruits are learning how to repair roads.

It is the fourth specialist skills centre to be launched as part of a council initiative to provide training opportunities for residents so they can work in key sectors with excellent job prospects.

The centre is set to provide up to 950 training places every year for entry-level jobs in the construction industry.

Its two classrooms will be used to deliver training in a wide range of construction skills, such as kerb and drain laying, asbestos awareness and traffic marshalling.

The first trainees will learn a wide range of skills from laying paving to street repairs. They have been recruited to the council's

Woolwich also needs a cinema

AS part of the effort to preserve town centres in the Royal Borough of Greenwich, Eltham town centre is to have a new cinema while Grove Market Place is regenerated.
Woolwich town centre is also undergoing regeneration and could do with a new cinema along with a facelift to Woolwich covered market and new shops on Beresford Street opposite the Royal Arsenal development and Crossrail. This could go someway in encouraging people to use our town centres in the evenings and weekends to shop and visit the cinema, leisure centre, pubs and restaurants in Woolwich town centre and support local businesses.

Graham Justine, Blackheath

● A council spokesperson said: "Thank you for your letter. There is certainly no doubt that a new cinema would make a valuable addition to Woolwich Town Centre and complement the on-going regeneration that is taking place there. As you may be aware the council has adopted the Woolwich Town Centre masterplan SPD in April 2012, which creates both a vision and framework for future regeneration. This framework provides details of a number of opportunity sites for new development including the potential for a new cinema. The council is continuing to work with partners which seek to bring proposals such as a cinema and restaurants uses as part of our continuing regeneration activity in the town. With all this activity we hope that the new developments will encourage people to use and visit the town centre, boost the economy, and support local businesses, which will help the town to grow and prosper."

Cycle lanes are fantastic until cars park in them

I HAD to smile, reading Greenwich Time (July 8). We had a lovely picture of a presentation of cycles to the Islamic centre, Woolwich - two experienced cyclists, Met Police chief inspector, Peter Turner, the mosque director and others. It was very nice. And yet if they had taken the trouble to walk 100/200 metres to Plumstead Station, they would have been aware of probably one of the most abused cycle lanes in the borough, with cars parked in it on a daily basis, without fail, plus on many occasions parked in the cycle lane by the mosque.

Mr J Trappitt, Thamesmead

● A council spokesperson said:
"We are sorry Mr Trappitt has had problems using the Plumstead Road cycle lanes as a result of thoughtless parking. Unfortunately, it is a problem around many of our schools, colleges and places of worship.
We are always working with those places to develop travel plans that encourage their staff and visitors to walk, cycle or use public transport where possible and park considerately if they have to drive. Partnership working is generally the best approach but we will always take enforcement action where it is not."

A Pixie surprise!

WHAT DO YOU TAKE ME FOR?: Pixie Lott performs for pupils at Christ Church Primary School and answers questions

CHILDREN at Christ Church Primary School, in Commerell Street, Greenwich, had a huge surprise this week when they were told Pixie Lott was going to sing at their school.

The 23-year-old singer-songwriter, whose hits include All About Tonight, is the niece of teaching assistant Vicky Bennett.

She agreed to sing and answer questions at the seven-class school on Wednesday in a flying visit, after visiting another school in Kent and before a television commitment.

It was a flying visit, but pupils - who were only told the day before - had the chance to ask three questions per class from the single-year intake.

Deputy headteacher Amanda Wilson said: "It's the first time we've had someone as big as her.

"It was the icing on the cake at the end of a great year because we have had fantastic SATs results this year."

The Key Stage 2 results were 92% in reading (up from 65% last year), 96% in reading (77%) and 96% in maths (62%) after a collaboration with St Mary Magdalene School, Woolwich.

Questions from the 170 pupils included 'Who would you most like to do a duet with?' by Year 5 - the answer being the American singer-songwriter Bruno Mars - and 'Do you play any instruments?' Pixie told them she played piano and guitar, but not as well as the accompanist who came with her on the day.

When asked 'W hat is it like to be rich and famous?' Pixie said she had never been asked that before, said Mrs Wilson. "She said it meant she met a lot of cool people and did a lot of travelling," said Mrs Wilson.

Property firm funds more Tall Ships crew

Boss funds three from his old school for regatta

by Dick Townsend-Smith

LOCAL property developers are sponsoring three more young sailors to join the Falmouth to Royal Greenwich Tall Ships Regatta later this summer.

Cathedral Holdings had already sponsored two youngsters.

However, Richard Upton, chief executive of Cathedral Holdings, was keen to support young people from his old school, Crown Woods.

Year 12 students Edward Neville and Brendan Gilhooley were selected, along with Year 11 student Megan Barrett.

They will join 16-year-olds Ethan O'Neill and Sapphire Hales, who were the original two selected for Team Cathedral, for the race in early September.

Cathedral Holdings are behind the development of The Movement next to Grerenwich DLR station.

Richard said: "We believe in supporting young people and giving them a chance to develop skills for life and work.

"When I was at Crown Woods, I was a member of the Air Cadets and achieved my private pilot's licence at the age of 17 years old. This was a wonderful opportunity for me to broaden my horizons and I am looking forward to meeting our sailors and hearing about their race from Falmouth to Greenwich."

The regatta will see more than 50 tall ships sail up the River Thames and dock along the Greenwich riverside for a five-day festival of maritime themed entertainment and activities.

More than 40 local youngsters are now being sponsored to take part in the life-changing event.

Noisy tenant fined £800

THE tenant of a council flat in Mulgrave Road, Woolwich, has been fined £800 for playing loud music.

The royal borough brought the prosecution against Peter Foster after complaints from neighbours. He was sent warning letters and a noise abatement notice, but ignored them.

Bromley magistrates ordered his music equipment to be seized by the council's Noise Team at a hearing on July 1. This included a CD player, a graphic equalizer, a turntable, a stereo synthesiser/tuner, an amplifier and two sets of speakers, worth together about £200.

Foster, who was not in court, was also ordered to pay costs of £683 and a victim surcharge of £20. The council is now taking out an eviction order against him to repossess his flat.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety and environment, said: "This was a serious case, which the magistrates recognised by the level of fine they imposed. Residents who commit anti-social behaviour such as noise nuisance, which can ruin the lives of their neighbours, can expect the council to take serious action to stop their selfish behaviour."

New skills centre open new £5m highways improvement scheme, which will provide jobs for unemployed people.

They will receive specialist training to carry out repairs to the borough's roads, on top of the current programme for road maintenance.

They were all recruited by GLLaB, the borough's local employment initiative and are working with highway maintenance experts from Riney while training is delivered by Greenwich Community College and the CITB National Construction College.

Trainee Gary Norman, 22, said: "I've done some work like this before which is why I wanted to take part. It's not that easy getting a job at the moment but the job centre and GLLaB told me about this and I thought it sounded like a really good opportunity. I like hands-on work, not sitting in an office. I live locally and once I've got the qualification and training I can go to local sites and tell them I have these skills and hopefully they'll be able to take me on".

Twenty-four year old trainee Scott O'Brien said: "I've always been interested in construction – I've tried working in retail before but it's not for me. I much prefer manual labour. It's gone really well this first week – we've learned things we probably wouldn't have been able to learn anywhere else. I've enjoyed concrete mixing and laying a plot. Hopefully this will give me the knowledge and grounding working in the construction industry".

Cllr Sizwe James, the council's cabinet member for business, employment and skills, said: "This is a fantastic facility and a great addition to our other specialist skills and training centres across the borough. Together they offer hundreds of places on specialist courses in industries we know people have an excellent chance of securing long term employment in. This is all about creating as many chances as possible for our residents to access training and valuable experience which will lead to permanent jobs. I wish all the new recruits the very best for the future and I know they'll get an excellent grounding.

"We know that in our ambitious programme of regeneration and development that there are a lot of local jobs available in construction – and this helps to ensure our own residents can access that work."

PERFECT PROSPECTS: council leader Denise Hyland, Gary Chin, principal of Greenwich Community College and Cllr Sizwe James with trainees at the centre opening

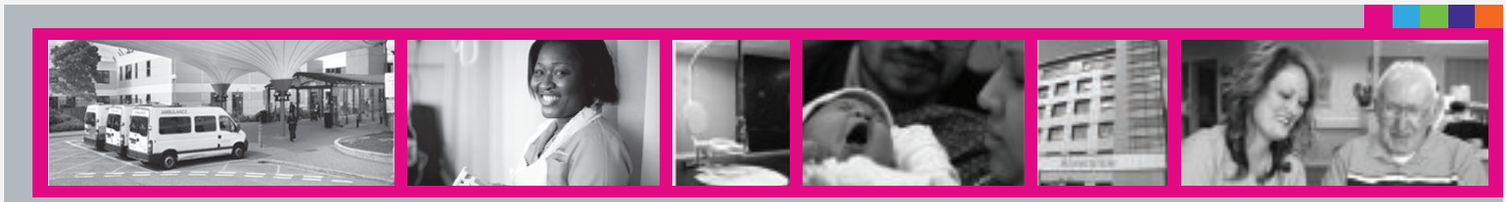

● The borough's other centres are the Digital Skills Centre on the Greenwich Peninsula, the Catering and Hospitality Skills Centre in Charlton, and the Horticulture and Equestrian Skills Centre on Shooters Hill.

Cabinet to set out priorities for next 12 months

A WIDE-ranging set of priorities for the rest of the year is due to be discussed when the council's cabinet meets tomorrow (Wednesday, July 23).

They include the opening of the horticultural skills centre on Shooters Hill, checking that the council's plans to support small local businesses are working effectively, creating more affordable housing and improving repairs to council houses, and the council-backed Violence and Organised Crime Unit and the Domestic Violence Intervention Unit.

Also on the agenda are plans to work more closely with NHS staff locally to boost the quality of service, drive up standards in borough schools and provide more places, and develop sports facilities at Sutcliffe Park and Hervey Road. The borough's cultural life also features in the priorities, including developing a new performing arts centre in the Royal Arsenal, turning the Borough Halls in Greenwich into a performing arts hub, and delivering a successful Tall Ships Regatta later in the year.

Newsagent fined £2,000 for firework safety breach

by Dick Townsend-Smith

THIS innocent-looking stack of cardboard boxes could have caused a huge explosion at a newsagents in Eltham.

They were packed with fireworks with names like Atomic Burst and Sky Terror – but no steps had been taken to store them safely at Raj News in Well Hall Road.

This led to proprietor Rajendra Patel being fined £2,000 after a prosecution was brought by the Royal Borough of Greenwich. He pleaded guilty to the offences at Bexley Magistrates' Court on July 14.

The court heard that trading standards officers had carried out an inspection on October 31 last year and found multiple boxes of fireworks on the shop floor weighing about 65 kilos, with another 25 kilos in a store room. The law says that live fireworks need to be locked securely away so that members of the public cannot get to them.

Patel told the court that the fireworks had been delivered the previous night, and he had not had a chance to store them away.

Trading Standards pointed out that there was not enough room in the stock room to store them anyway. They included the more powerful 'Category 3' fireworks which have to be stored at minimum distances from other parts of the building.

As well as the £2,000 fine, Patel was ordered to pay prosecution costs of £1,317.92 and a victim surcharge of £120.

Cllr Jackie Smith, the council's cabinet member for community safety and environment, said: "If an overnight fire had started in this shop, the consequences for the neighbouring properties could have been horrific. We mustn't forget that fireworks are really explosives, and they should be treated and stored as such. The sheer volume of fireworks stored improperly in this shop could have been disastrous.

DANGEROUS: the boxes of fireworks improperly stored at Raj News

"I congratulate trading standards for their diligence and I hope this will serve as a warning to other traders."

Free bike MOTs for cyclists

DR Bike mechanics are offering free maintenance sessions to cyclists on Saturday (July 26).

The sessions are free and anyone can attend. They'll be held in Cutty Sark Gardens from 11am to 5pm. The free sessions have been organised by the royal borough to make it easier for residents get on their bikes to become more active.

Family fun and games at Charlton Horn Fayre

YOUNGSTERS can take part in an ice cream relay race at this year's Horn Fayre at Charlton House.

The range of traditional races also includes an egg and spoon and three-legged races. It's all part of the family friendly fun planned Sunday (July 27) from 11am – 4pm.

The day will also feature live music, a dog shoe, stalls, children's rides, food and a beer tent.

Police appeal for stolen jewellery

POLICE have released two images of jewellery which was stolen in a burglary in Sidcup and are now appealing for information.

On Thursday June 19 thieves forced the back door of an address in Radfield Way and stole a number of valuable jewellery plus and an iPad.

Two diamond rings were stolen - one is particularly unique and has a distinctive flower design.

Investigating officer Ian Waller, from the Greenwich Burglary Squad said: "We are keen to speak with anyone who saw anything suspicious or anyone who may have come across the jewellery in the images".

● Anyone with information should call DC Waller on 0208 284 9573 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

They'll

by Dick Townsend-Smith

A GROUP of young people who have shown courage, gone the extra mile, helped others, or overcome personal difficulties been publically recognised at an awards ceremony.

The borough's Do The Right Thing awards on Friday, July 11, celebrated their astonishing achievements at a presentation ceremony at Eltham Palace.

The awards were presented by the Mayor of Royal Greenwich, Cllr Mick Hayes, together with James Ward from sponsors Canary Wharf Contractors.

They included an award for 11-year-old Jack Mackay from Eltham, who was overall winner in the Bravery category.

He protected his mum and baby brother in a dog attack. By shouting at the dog Jack managed to divert its attention away from his family and onto him.

Unfortunately, this led to Jack being attacked by the dog. He sustained serious injuries to his face and arms which required plastic surgery. Despite this trauma, Jack has returned to school and has been preparing for his Year 6 tests.

His mum, Lucy, said: "He is very brave. He jumped in front of me and screamed to get the dog's attention. He's doing really well now, and not scared of dogs at all – like I am."

Christopher Lunde Ngomo, 10, from Abbey Wood, got the top award for being a Model Citizen. He takes responsibility for his two younger siblings, including a brother with special needs, showing patience and understanding and is always calm and friendly. At his school, Boxgrove Primary, he is a great friend to his classmates and is always kind and considerate of others. Christopher said: "Getting the award is really nice, I felt speechless when they said my name. It was a great day for me."

Zoe Cutler was overall winner in the category of Community Role Model. She has a hearing impairment but tackled this by becoming a volunteer with the Avery Hill Youth Club for young people with disabilities.

Her exceptional dedication has meant she was accepted as a volunteer at just 14, despite the minimum age usually being 16. She has supported the young people with art projects, trips and activities and keep-fit classes, where she adapted the exercises to suit individual abilities.

Lauren Jenkins, 14, from Thamesmead, who goes to St Paul's Academy, won the award for being an inspiration to others. Supported by Hawksmoor Youth Club, she got a work placement at London Fire Brigade and successfully completed the course, receiving an award for attendance, attitude and commitment. Lauren is a keen singer, and performed two songs at the awards ceremony.

She said: "I knew I had been nominated, but I couldn't believe that I had won. I think I performed the songs really well, because my mum and my friends were there to give me support."

Ozzy Jackson and Charlie Bond received the Good Friends award after Ozzy broke a leg playing football, and Charlie went to get help. Another Good Friend award went to Paige Pilfold-Candish and Gracie-May White, both four, who have helped each other become mobile in spite of physical problems.

Richard Mosope Olaniyi won the Young Carer and Family Supporter award for the support he gives to his mother who has ongoing health issues.

A special Community Award was made to Mulgrave Primary School in Rectory Place, Woolwich.

The school was just yards from the scene where Lee Rigby was murdered, and the award was presented to the children, staff and parents in recognition of their resilience and the support they have shown each other following the attack.

Families and staff were also recognised as an example to the community for the way they pulled together in the face of adversity.

The trophy was collected by headteacher David Dixon, along with staff, pupils and parents.

He said: "We are very pleased with the award.

"We have army families at this school, as well as families from the ethnic minorities. After what happened we all pulled together and the award is in recognition of our community cohesion." The judging panel was made up of members of Greenwich Young People's Council and council officers who work with children.

£10k rent recovered

THE royal borough has successfully reclaimed more than £10,000 from a tenant who sub-let her council property.

Jean Neal was ordered to pay a total of £12,169.83 - including costs and legal fees as well as what she owed to the council - by Chesterfield Crown Court on July 4.

She formerly held a tenancy in Sunbury Street, Woolwich.

As part of a pro-active exercise into tenancy fraud by the council's internal audit and anti-fraud team, undertaken in May 2012, it was identified that Mrs Neal had not been living there, but in Derbyshire having sublet her council property.

When presented with the evidence, Mrs Neal admitted that she was no longer resident at the Woolwich address.

She immediately arranged for the keys of the property to be returned.

Civil proceedings were then taken to recover the council's losses, between April 15, 2011 to August 19, 2012.

At the hearing, District Judge Davies told Mrs Neal to pay the full amount of £10,970.77 owed to the Royal Borough, plus legal costs, interest and expenses of the council - a total of £12,169.83.

Cllr Chris Kirby, the cabinet member for housing, said: "In the last few years the royal borough has strengthened its investigation techniques and these new detection methods are now being used to full effect and this successful case is another example of the innovative work now being undertaken.

"It sends a strong message to those who set out to sublet our valuable housing stock that you will get caught and we will seek to recover our financial losses."

● If you suspect someone of housing fraud or subletting call 0800 169 6975 or email Unauthorised-Occupation@royalgreenwich.gov.uk. Any information you give will be treated in confidence.

'Good Choices Day was really insightful'

ABOUT 100 residents attended Arnott Pre-school's Good Choices Day.

They were able to hear from several service providers offering free advice and information about topics ranging from healthcare to road safety, leisure activities and Peabody's strategy team, to help them make good choices.

Residents were also able to hear about the future of Thamesmead.

"Today has been really informative," said Solange Diboa, whose daughters both attend Arnott Pre-school.

"It is the first time I have attended and it has been very insightful."

Olu Botu added: "Working 9am-5pm I didn't know much about what services are available to me locally.

"Coming here has made me feel a part of the community. I've even learnt things about issues that don't directly relate to me, but now know how to look out for difficulties in friends and neighbours and know where I should direct them if they need help."

The day proved popular with children, too, offering face painting and smoothie making, Zumba and a picnic at the Good Life Garden based in Birchmere Park, where Arnott Pre-school children often visit to plant seeds and see them grow.

Trust Thamesmead's Childcare Manager, Tracy Norcott, said: "Good Choices Day is an important date in both our pre-school calendars.

"Every year a number of service providers give up their time to attend and we cannot underestimate the difference that makes to many residents' lives.

"It gives them the chance to ask questions and find out more about topics that matter to them."

MORE than 100 parents and students from Eltham have been taking part in sessions to learn more about themselves.

Organised by local schools and supported by the council, the sessions helped them grow in confidence and to be inspired to take more positive actions.

Called Discover ME, the four weekly one-day sessions were held at Middle Park, Horn Park, Haimo and Montbelle primary schools, Vistafield and Greenacres children's centres and Eltham Hill School.

Parents were full of praise for what they had learned.

Haimo attendee Leanne Stewart said: "I was asked to make a speech in front of 150 people. With a lot of help and encouragement, I made my speech and even managed to enjoy it."

Linda Evans, who went to the Discover ME sessions on employability at Eltham Hill School, said: "By changing my outlook and being more positive and confident, I was able to apply for a job after 21 years out of work.

"I thought I had nothing to offer being 'just a mum', but it turns out that was just my negative self-talk. Discover ME taught me that I have many transferable skills and that I actually had a lot to offer. So much so, I got the job I applied for."

Mum-of-two Victoria Xuereb from New Eltham, who went to sessions at Montbelle primary, said: "They helped me build inner confidence, make new friends and find a balance in my busy life.

"They also made me more positive and grateful for things rather than worrying about things that are less important."

Former primary school teacher Marion Tourral said: "The programme changed my life. It gave me a lot of confidence. I suffer from [skin condition] psoriasis and it made me not want to go out, but the course has helped me cope with people's looks and comments.

"I'm now going to set up my own personalised gifts business, such as making personalised aprons."

Elektra Michael, who went to the Discover ME employability sessions at Greenacres, said: "I got myself a job as a Christmas temp at Argos. It was a huge deal for me as I hadn't worked in more than eight years because I was bringing up my children. I've now become a stronger and more confident person."

Lucy Hewitt, who went to sessions at Montbelle Primary, said the course had given her the confidence to take on chairing her PTA. The programme was also piloted successfully for students at Eltham Hill School. There are now plans to roll it out to other secondary schools.

Discover ME director Anna Garcia said: "The transformations we have seen have been life changing. We thank all the heads, coordinators and teams who facilitated this process and acknowledge the great courage of each one of our participants."

Parents were presented with awards, at a special event at Eltham Hill, by the Mayor of Royal Greenwich, Cllr Mick Hayes, and singer Femi Santiago,a singer who competed on BBC show The Voice this year.

Plumcroft's flower power goes on parade

by Thao Dinh

CHILDREN from Plumcroft Primary School went to General Gordon Square in Woolwich and held a community carnival and parade.

The children started the morning with their costumes and banners, parading up and down Powis Street.

They handed out paper flowers to passers-by which were all handmade by the pupils themselves.

And Year 1 prepared pom-poms which were then hung on the trees of Woolwich.

Children also had a chance to showcase their talents with performances on the stage, including dancing and music.

The school not only held a carnival, but produced a five-week long project which involved all classes participating in activities that assisted the community. They visited Tesco where they helped customers with their shopping, while some classes visited Len Clifton House, in Woolwich, where they sang and read poetry to the elderly.

About 600 children took part in the all-singing, dancing, art and film-making month.

The overall aim of the project - including the community carnival and parade - was to help children feel good about both themselves and their community.

Still having fun

by Dick Townsend-Smith

IT was an afternoon of fun and surprises when the country's oldest open-air nursery, the Rachel McMillan Nursery School and Children's Centre, held its summer garden party.

More than 200 people went along to the nursery, on the Greenwich-Deptford borders, including many former pupils, who took along their own children.

Headteacher Theresa Lane said: "It was lovely seeing them and how they have grown up and were now with their families. It was a really good event with lots of visitors. All the staff ran stalls for each class group, such as making ice-cream and face-painting."

The children were also able to clamber over a visiting fire engine while wearing fire helmets, as the firefighters handed out fire precautions leaflets.

An exhibition of large photographs showed the children holding something they really liked, such as a flower, or with a hand covered in mud.

Country's oldest open air nursery celebrates centenary

They were taken by former pupil Rachel Hale.

The event came in the nursery's centenary year. Founders Margaret and Rachel McMillan established the 'open air' nursery in 1914 and are widely regarded as influencing early years' education across the world.

The sisters developed classrooms built around a central outdoor play area to ensure a healthy lifestyle – a design that is still in use. Rachel McMillan died in 1917, and her sister named the nursery after her.

Open day for disability sports

A FREE event is being run at Hornfair Park for people with disabilities to try a wide range of sports.

The day is called Greenwich Get Active Disability Event and runs on Saturday August 2 from 12-4pm at the Shooters Hill Road sports complex.

It is being organised by Ben Quilterthe disability physical activity and sport development officer for Greenwich Leisure Limited, the royal borough's leisure services partner, in conjunction with the royal borough.

DEMO THROW: Ben Quilter talks a youngster through a judo move at a previous disability event, Time To Shine, earlier this year

Ben, the Paralympic judo bronze medallist from London 2012, will demonstrate his skills in the judo part of the event, jointly put on with Metro Judo Club, where Olympic silver medallist Gemma Gibbons took up the sport.

Football will be provided by Charlton Athletic Community Trust and wheelchair tennis by the South London Special League, which is this year's charity supported by Greenwich Mayor Cllr Mick Hayes.

Access Sport - which gives children, particularly in disadvantaged areas, access to a wide range of quality local sport - will provide BMX sessions at a venue which was built as part of the royal borough's commitment to leaving a sports legacy after the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Other sports such as rowing and cycling will be offered, including through Active Kids. The event will also be supported by the Greenwich Get Active Road Show and Greenwich Healthy Living Services.

● SUMMER fun for youngsters, put on by Greenwich Leisure Limited, starts at the Waterfront, Woolwich, on Thursday.
The Better Holiday playscheme runs from 9am to 5pm on Thursday (July 24) and Friday, and then from Mondays to Fridays (except Bank Holiday) for the following five weeks.
It is for children age five (Year 1 school year) to 11.
In May's half-term holiday fun, the fire brigade were part of the activities, showing children what they do.
GLL, the council's leisure services provider, has many courses including tennis at Hornfair Park, a junior gym at the refurbished Charlton Lido and Lifestyle Centre and swimming courses. There is also gymnastics at Thomas Tallis School, where extra funding was provided by the Royal Borough of Greenwich as part of its legacy commitments after the London Olympics in 2012.
There are also junior sports days at the Arches and 30-minute intensive learn to swim courses spread over a week. Activities are aimed at various age-groups and there is even a performing arts course for those aged over 15, giving them a taste of what would be required in a degree course in musical theatre.
● For more information about activities, visit www.better.org.uk/promotions/school-holiday-activities

● YOUNG people have another chance to take advantage of a range of free courses and activities during their holidays, thanks to the Stride into Summer programme. Coordinated by youth charity Futureversity, the summer programme (pictured right) offers unique activities for those aged 10-19 (or up to 25 years for those with disabilities) who live, work or study in the borough. It's a chance to learn new skills and develop their potential, while having fun and making new friends.
There are six categories of courses: Business and Careers; Skills for Life; Art and Fashion; Sport, Fitness and Wellbeing; Digital Media and Photography; and Music and Performing Arts. Among the topics covered are driving theory, cookery, making films, writing poetry, kayaking and presentation skills.
Courses take place during July and August at different times and venues across Greenwich.
● Full course programme and booking are available at www.futureversity.org/greenwich or by calling 020 7247 7900.

STORYTELLERS IN TIME: character actors bring history to life at the Royal Museums

SCENE

JUST FOR COUPLES: two's company in The Lost Room

Room for two

THEATRE-goers are booking up to be on stage at a special interactive installation show for two people.

Pairs will go into The Lost Room wearing wireless headphones to immerse themselves in an audio environment with music, a narrator and a series of tasks/challenges.

The show is the idea of Tristan Shorr and Rachel Champion, from the Art of Disappearing company which was commissioned to run the performance by Greenwich Theatre and Greenwich Dance.

The Lost Room will be at Greenwich Dance, Borough Hall, Royal Hill, on July 24 and 25, then at Greenwich Theatre on August 3 and 4.

"The Lost Room is about unlocking people's imagination," said 39-year-old Rachel.

"There could be invitations to create images, to crack codes, to move through the room in different ways but always together. The aim is for people to go away with new, shared memories.

"The age range is 10-plus but it's not just for young people. We've had people over 60 at tests and they've been great and really got into it, allowing them to be like children again."

Tristan, 37, composed the music for the show and said: "Two people will go into the room at booked times. If pairs don't come together they can go in with a stranger, which can work really well.

"We're asking people to get really involved so they have to be quite creative and open-minded when they enter the space. The whole thing lasts for 45 minutes but the main chunk of it in The Lost Room is for 20 minutes."

Tickets: £5 (inc £1 booking fee) The Lost Room is at Greenwich Dance, Borough Hall, Royal Hill, on July 24 and 25, then at Greenwich Theatre on August 3 and 4. Call Greenwich Theatre box office on 020 8858 7755 or visit Greenwich Dance at www.greenwichdance.org.uk

Museum late

DANGEROUS waters flow around our coastline, concealing shallow rocks and treacherous sandbanks.

Have you got the skills to navigate your way out of danger or will you get lost in the museum? Visit the National Maritime Museum for an off-kilter evening to mark the opening of Ships, Clocks and Stars and Guiding Lights: 500 Years of Trinity House and Safety at Sea. The Museum Late event an evening of exciting activities in the Sammy Ofer Wing on Thursday 24 July 24 from 6-9pm.

Tickets £5/£4 includes entry to Ships, Clocks & Stars, and for members a free glass of wine or non-alcoholic alternative.

LOCAL people are invited to a night out at the flicks when a pop up cinema hosts a series of special screenings this weekend.

The pioneers of outdoor cinema Pop Up Screens are back this summer beaming favourite films into London parks with special screenings in Greenwich.

The programme of movies started earlier this month with a third round of screenings in Blackheath this weekend.

On show in the garden at Mycenae House is Shaun of the Dead on Friday, July 25, followed by The Full Monty on Saturday, July 26.

Screenings kick off around 8.30pm and tickets can be purchased in advance.

The summer programme also ends in Greenwich over the weekend of September 26 and 27 with screenings of The Goonies and Forrest Gump at the East Greenwich Pleasaunce.

As well as satisfying cravings for cult classics, this year's Pop Up Screens are also serving up bespoke Pop Up Burgers. There's also a full stocked bar and it wouldn't be cinema without popcorn.

Pop Up Screens founder David Leydon explained the thinking is to run popular movies while showcasing the capital's little-known green spaces.

"If you've never been to an outdoor cinema, it's a must try. It really is the best way to watch a movie as you're in a park, with your friends and hundreds of other people who love a movie as much as you do. And that real love for the movie creates a special atmosphere you won't find at any multiplex."

He added: "We wanted to give people something different to do, there's loads of brilliant green spaces in London but people are often guilty of not exploring their local area.

"The East Greenwich Pleasaunce for example is a brilliant little park and this is a good way of getting people to visit. But we're also about also about showing good movies and getting people to watch them. They're films

After dark showcase for local talent

2012'S X Factor contestant Jade Ellis (pictured) is the special guest at the launch of a new monthly gig in Woolwich.

The singer, who lives locally, is a regular at the Koffees & Kream diner in Calderwood Street. And on Friday (July 25) she performs at the launch of an event night called KK's After Dark.

The event is scheduled for the last Friday of the month and promises live music acts, comedy and more from 7.30pm to midnight.

"It's a chance for local bands and entertainers to come and put their name out there. We want it to be something that people are going to talk about and look forward to on the last Friday of the month," said Raif Hassan, owner of the eaterie which opened three months ago. "We plan to have a variety of different artistes and activities including comedy and jazz nights," Raif added.

Along with the entertainment there'll be a condensed version of the licenced restaurant's extensive menu.

Entry is free through an invitation which can be collected from the restaurant which also hosts corporate events and celebrations.

GREENWICH
A five panel, nine metre long mural originally made for the decoration of the Nelson Bar aboard HMS 'Campania' is now on show at the National Maritime Museum. Working Boats from around the British Coast by Alan Sorrell, is on display in the Sammy Ofer Wing. The mural toured British ports as a microcosm of the Festival of Britain exhibition on London's South Bank in 1951. Alan Sorrell's mural celebrates the fishing communities along the coast of Britain in charming individual scenes, separated by a decorative device of ropes held aloft by seagulls. The mural was selected by Sir Frederick Gibbert (architect and planner of Harlow New Town and closely involved with the Festival of Britain) as a gift to Harlow. It was displayed in the town's Moot Hall, but eventually disappeared from view until it was acquired by the National Maritime Museum in 2014.

GreenwichHomes
Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme
Edition 401

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B both in priority date order.
Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list
First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

2 Find your applicant number
It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

3 Pick out your ideal property
by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website: www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes
Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

4 Apply in one of three ways
- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

HOW TO BID FOR ADVERTISED PROPERTIES BY TEXT

If you would like to bid by text, please use the following Text Bidding Number: 0778 620 7913 and type:

CBL, the property reference number and your applicant number.

The property reference will be on the advert and your applicant number is on the letter we sent to you when you registered for housing.

A successful bid will look like this:
CBL 179104 12191

You will need to do a separate text for each property you wish to bid for and the text is charged at your mobile provider's standard rate. You will receive a text response to confirm your bid within 5 minutes.

You can only register on line for free

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR ROYAL BOROUGH TENANTS WHO ARE MOVING

DON'T GET A BILL AFTER YOU LEAVE

Under the conditions of your tenancy agreement, you have a responsibility to leave your property in an acceptable state of repair. We may visit you to check this. If we consider your property is in an unacceptable condition, you may be prevented from moving or be recharged for work.

To avoid getting an unwelcome bill, follow these rules:

- Repair any damage caused to the property by you, your family or visitors to your home.
- Make good any changes you have made to your property e.g. put back any doors that you have removed.
- Make sure your garden is not overgrown and you have cleared all garden waste.
- Clear all your items from the inside and the outside of the property. This includes any loft space, external cupboards or sheds.
- Return all the keys to the Royal Borough's offices no later than midday on Monday (or Tuesday if it is a Bank Holiday). You will be charged a further week's rent if you do not return your keys on time.

If you leave repairs that are your responsibility, or items that require disposal you will be charged the cost of this work.

Special Collection Service

The Royal Borough offers a Special Collection Service for tenants who are moving and want to dispose of something big and bulky, like a sofa or a fridge, and even unwanted clothes and other textiles.

Simply contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661 and tell them where you live and what you would like taken away.

Items we will collect include:

Fridges, freezers, washing machines, beds, sofas, clothes and carpets (carpets must be cut up and tied into manageable bundles that one person can carry).

Items we DO NOT collect include:

Fitted kitchens, bathroom suites, boilers,sheds, fences and rubble.

For further information, please contact Waste Services on 020 8921 4661.

Please leave your home in a good condition!

This is what happened to the homes advertised in issue 398

VIP VISITOR: the bishop gets a warm welcome from excited pupils and school leaders

So what's it like to be a bishop?

by Thao Dinh

PUPILS received an unexpected surprise when the Bishop of Woolwich, the Rt Revd Dr Michael Ipgrave, visited the school to see the work that the children had been doing.

The bishop called by at Bishop John Robinson CofE School, which gets its name from a previous clergyman who was made Bishop of Woolwich in 1959.

The highlight of the day was the school unveiling a life-sized replica of the Bishop, made of papier mache.

Pupils Oreofe, Chichi, Alexandra, Oreoluwa and Hannah all aged 11 took part in a short prayer session with the Bishop to mark the grand opening of the statue.

Additionally, each class participated in a challenge in order to find out more about their school's identity.

They were able to ask questions such as "Who was Bishop John Robinson?" and "What do Bishops do?" which left the children with a much broader understanding than before.

Bishop Michael said: "I am particularly impressed with the knowledge and understanding that some of the Year 6 children showed."

He also mentioned that the children were some of the best behaved that he had ever seen.

The aim was to use the Bishop's visit to inspire further learning around Christian values within the school.

‘Zoe’s in top shape’

Weightlifter can bid for Commonwealth Games medal in Glasgow, says coach

by Ian Lamont

ZOE Smith heads to Glasgow for the Commonwealth Games in terrific condition, says her coach.

Sam Dovey helped Zoe recover from a back injury which threatened her future in the sport after the Olympic Games in London 2012.

But now he believes the 20-year-old, who is an ambassador for Greenwich Starting Blocks which supports promising athletes, can achieve her aim of a medal at the event in Scotland.

Zoe, 20, who grew up in Abbey Wood, will compete in the under-58kg category on Sunday afternoon (July 26).

She will be aiming to at least match the bronze medal she won at the last Commonwealth Games in Delhi, India, four years ago.

Earlier this year, Zoe also became only the second British competitor to win a European Championship medal, taking bronze.

The first was Michaela Breeze, a Welsh competitor who Zoe will now be up against while competing for Team England.

RAISING THE BAR: Zoe Smith’s training has gone well

Sam said Zoe has been lifting bigger weights than ever in the gym and her preparations have been going much better than even for the Europeans, or the domestic championships, which were the other key preparation events earlier this year.

“After the Europeans she picked up a virus and and even though she won bronze she had been struggling to perform as she could.

“So for the British championships we put her up a weight category so she didn’t have to worry about making the lighter weight. It has been a case of getting her down to the weight again, but this has been the most productive training she has had since I’ve been coaching her.

“In terms of how she feels, it’s pre-London 2012 levels.”

Sam will have to take a back seat and merely watch from the seats in the arena while Team England coaches work with Zoe during the tournament.

But Sam believes his athlete is in good hands. He said: “Her team coach is Andy Callard, who coached her through to the Olympics, so it is great she is with someone she knows.

“It promises to be a fascinating contest, as Michaela is undefeated by a fellow Britain since 1997 and is the snatch record holder for Great Britain, while Zoe holds the clean and jerk record.”

serious throwing. Vera Chinedu (St Matthew’s Academy, Blackheath) ran a first heat and semi-final to reach the final of the under-15 100m, where she was fourth in a season’s best 12.23 seconds.

She also then ran in the 4x100m relay for the age-group, bringing home the baton to clinch silver for the London quartet.

Noah Armitage-Hookes ran 4min 25.00sec in the under-15 1,500m heats, while twin brother Alfie ran 2:10.62 in the 800 metres.

Bamiyo Oladipupo was ninth in the under-15 triple jump with 11.95 metres.

In the under-17s girls 100m Shekinah George-Lawal ran 12.74sec in his heat.

In the under-17 boys, Danielle Blake had a great 200m heat, finishing third, and was unlucky to miss out on the final, doing so by 13/100s of a second, having run a time of 25.54.

Tobi Ogunjimi, in the under-17 boys 200m, reached the final, clocking 22.21 sec for seventh.

In the under-19s, Adam Wright finished 12th in the 3,000 metres in 8min 57sec.

Harriers' golden girls

Greenwich Starting Blocks athletes Sabrina Sinha and Divine Oladipo win national titles

by Ian Lamont

DIVINE Oladipo has shot to stardom in her short time competing in athletics - and now she has an English Schools Athletics Championships medal to inspire her further.

The 15-year-old, new this year to the Greenwich Starting Blocks charity which supports promising athletes, was joined on the top of the podium by one of its established stars - Sabrina Sinha, also 15.

Divine threw the shot put 14.92 metres to win the under-17 girls' category at the event in Birmingham in a personal best.

Sabrina was pushed all the way to the line when claiming the 1500 metres title, the latest in a long line of successes this season.

As a result, both Cambridge Harriers athletes, who train at Sutcliffe Park, earned places to compete in the home nations under-17 international, held in Cardiff last weekend.

Both were competing against athletes at least a year older than themselves.

Sabrina, who has won a string of cross-country and track titles this season, said: "It's been an amazing year. It's really hard to say what's been the best, but I would say the [English Schools] was one of them because I know I gave everything."

She needed to. The Blackheath resident ran a personal best 4mins 9.52secs and beat her nearest rival, Rosie Johnson, 16, from Merseyside, by a matter of metres in a sprint finish.

Sabrina added: "From about 250 metres to go, we were neck and neck until 10 metres before the line.

"I knew, to make it a quick race, I had to take it on from the start and make it as fast as possible."

Sabrina, competing for Kent Schools, was delighted for Divine, who was representing London Schools.

Divine, who attends St Ursula's School, Crooms Hill, threw a personal best and cemented her place at the top of the UK rankings for this year.

Divine said: "I went in with the mentality to win and I think I just tried to stay as calm as possible.

"I was leading for the first two throws, but then I had two no throws and I won with the sixth throw."

Despite throwing a 3kg championship record for the age-group, Divine is ambitious to push herself to even higher standards.

"I threw a personal best but I wanted to throw 15 metres," said Divine, who believes it is within her ability, either at the international, or national championships at Bedford in mid-August.

A total of 11 Cambridge Harriers competed. Godgift Nnadozie (St Ursula's) was sixth in the under-15 shot, an impressive result in her first season of

Class of 2014

Ravensbourne Convocation 2014

Convocation is one of the highlights of our year when we celebrate the success of our graduating students and congratulate them all on their achievements and hard work over the course of their studies.

In graduating today, Ravensbourne students join an enviable alumni who are working with the BBC, Vivienne Westwood, Gensler, Arqiva, Framestore, Pentagram, Ogilvy, MTV, Microsoft and many other companies that are key players in the design and digital media industries. Ravensbourne graduates are well connected and amongst the best.

On behalf of Ravensbourne's Board of Governors and staff, I congratulate all our 2014 graduates on their award. It is a remarkable achievement in itself and one that I hope has been accompanied by experiences, friendships and memories that will be valued forever.

Best of luck to Ravensbourne's Class of 2014.
